Web Developer
University Libraries

The University of Arkansas Libraries seek experienced public service-oriented candidates for the position of Web Developer. Reporting to the Web Services Librarian, the Web Developer will create and maintain the University Libraries’ various Web sites. Serving students, faculty, and staff at the University and researchers worldwide, the Libraries’ Web site provides a portal to the collections and services. Through the use of innovative approaches and emerging technologies, the Web Developer will design and customize library sites to create a coherent electronic environment that is integrated with traditional library services.

Major responsibilities include: establishing standards and designing templates for library sites; providing quality assurance by reviewing submitted content for consistency and accuracy, auditing the Web sites for usability, analyzing usage patterns, and tracking issues; serving as an ex-officio member of the Web Development Committee and collaborating with library staff on projects using special applications, such as CONTENTdm, EAD/XML, ILLiad, LibGuides, and Innovative Interfaces; working with Library IT staff and third-party vendors on site infrastructure, security, and customization; conducting research on new technologies and techniques; and working with University Relations and campus Web masters to develop and implement best campus practices and standards.

The successful candidate should have excellent communication skills, the ability to work independently and to collaborate with users to assess their needs and design appropriate solutions, and a record of successful project management in a team environment.

Qualifications. Required: A bachelor’s degree; relevant experience in Web development working with large sites and dynamic content using technologies such as HTML/CSS, JavaScript, jQuery, PHP, SQL, XML, XSLT, and XHTML. Preferred: At least 2 years of study at the graduate level; experience with library Web-based tools and practices, including CONTENTdm, EAD, ILLiad, LibGuides, and integrated library systems; work experience in a college / university setting; experience with ASP/ASP.net and VBScript; experience with data security standards and procedures and disaster recovery plans; experience with enterprise-scale content management systems.

Salary and Benefits. Twelve-month, non-classified, non-faculty position (Senior Library Assistant). Salary: $45,000. Benefits include TIAA/CREF, Fidelity Mutual Fund, or the Arkansas Public Employees Retirement System, 22 days of annual leave, tuition reduction, and health insurance.

Background: The University of Arkansas places students first by enhancing academic programs, creating an engaging campus life, reducing obstacles, enhancing diversity, improving graduation rates, and marshaling the expertise of the faculty, staff, and students. The University is classified by the Carnegie Foundation as a research university with very high levels of research activity (RU/VH). The University provides a superior campus landscape and environment while designing and building world class facilities. The funding for research awards and research expenditures continues to grow and so do the academic programs offered. The University Libraries share in the stewardship of the University’s goals and takes responsibility for the health of the research and teaching collections as well as programs that further support the academic mission. For more information, visit the Libraries’ home page (http://libinfo.uark.edu). The University of Arkansas campus (http://www.uark.edu/) in Fayetteville, Arkansas, with a student enrollment of more than 25,000, is the flagship campus of the University of Arkansas System. With a population of approximately 460,000, the northwest Arkansas region is home to two Fortune 100 company headquarters. This thriving region offers numerous cultural venues, such as the Crystal Bridges Museum of American Art, the Walton Arts Center, and the Shiloh Museum of Ozark History. (http://www.collegetownprofile.com/arkansas/universityofarkansas/index.html)
Application deadline and contact information. Women and minorities are encouraged to apply. Completed applications received by March 29, 2015, will receive full consideration. Late applications will be reviewed as necessary to fill the position. For the full posting or to apply, please go to the UA’s employment system at https://jobs.uark.edu, and search for professional staff listing #0603643. When completing your application, please upload the following: letter of application, résumé, samples of your work, and names, addresses, and telephone numbers of three current references to the attention of Jeff Banks, Assistant Director for Library Human Resources and Diversity Programs.

The University of Arkansas is an equal opportunity, affirmative action institution. The University welcomes applications without regard to age, race, gender (including pregnancy), national origin, disability, religion, marital or parental status, protected veteran status, military service, genetic information, sexual orientation, or gender identity. Persons must have proof of legal authority to work in the United States on the first day of employment. All applicant information is subject to public disclosure under the Arkansas Freedom of Information Act.